Letter from the President:

Dear Hampton Village,

I wish everyone a great start to the new school year. So far September has offered us some beautiful weather and it's great to see so many people out walking on the paths and children playing in the parks.

Your community association worked extremely hard last year and brought some great things to Hampton Village. We have a great website, fitness programs, kinder soccer, and had a great community BBQ and garage sale, to name a few.

The HVCA is made up of only a handful of volunteers, yet they have already done so much. As our community continues to grow, so does our needs. We are currently operating at above capacity. We NEED volunteers to donate a small amount of time so that we can bring more great programming for our families. To volunteer, contact us through our website.

Our current goal and focus is to offer our neighborhood somewhere to skate this winter. We are not sure what the structure will look like yet, as we have very limited funds. However, our rink committee is hard at work planning a spot for us to lace up our skates.

I wish you all a great fall and I'll see you at the park,

Matt Ingrouille

HV Rink Update!

John Halashewski has volunteered to head the HV Rink Committee. We have a good start on our funding for the rink, receiving a grant from the city, but still have a ways to go.

We still require more volunteers to help with the planning and building of the rink. The rink is to be situated on the land to the east of the Hampton Fountain on the land allocated for the Community Centre/school. The goal is to get as much done as we can this winter. If you have time, services or expertise to lend, please contact John at:

How important is health to you?

Most people if asked to list the most important things in their life, being healthy would usually make it on the list near the top. If you stop to think about it for a minute it makes good sense for the simple reason that if you have poor health it likely interferes with your enjoyment of all the other things on your list. Your ability to do the activities you love and spending time with family and friends is definitely a problem if you have ill health.

How much is your quality of living being negatively affected by your health?

The fact that surprises many is how much control we have over our own health through the choices we make day to day. The most important decision you can make for yourself is to do all you can to take the best care of your own body every single day. The habits you form will have significant impact on your health for good or for bad.

The best habits to develop are:

- Eating well – which means lots of fresh produce.
- Managing stress in a positive way and thinking positively.
- Moving well – which means being physically active and joints moving fully throughout their range of motion.
- Staying well hydrated – drinking water and limiting beverages that have carbonation and sweeteners.
- Getting adequate sleep – meaning that you wake feeling rested and refreshed.

Each one of the above points has vast amounts of information available. It is not about having the information. It is about taking action and putting that information to use for your own benefit to improve your quality of living. The question remains, how important is that to you?
