Hampton Village Community Association Newsletter

Spring 2010

Hello Hampton Village,

I would first like to welcome you to our Hampton Village Community Association (HVCA) and introduce you to our first newsletter. As the president of our association, I want to wish you all a great spring and encourage you to get out and enjoy our beautiful green spaces or throw a ball around in Al Anderson Park.

We live in a neighbourhood, but it is a community that makes it feel like home. A strong community builds a foundation that will have nothing but success in whatever goals we set for ourselves. Forming a community association is the start of that foundation. It is through the HVCA that you will be able to turn your neighbourhood into a community that you feel proud of.

The HVCA has a list of great volunteers making up the board of directors. However, more volunteers are needed to bring exciting events and programs to our new neighbourhood. If you have a specific skill or are able to volunteer a small part of your time, let us know.

Please take the time to visit our website, come out to a meeting, or contact a board member with ideas to help us make Hampton Village one of the best neighbourhoods in Saskatoon.

Thank-you for giving me the opportunity to be our first president. I look forward to seeing what the future holds for Hampton Village.

Sincerely,

Matt Ingrouille

Garage Sale Tips – Before Sale Day & Set Up

- Be prepared for the garage sale BEFORE 8:00 a.m – shoppers tend to show up early
- Have plenty of change on hand (both coin and paper)
- Have enough tables to display your items
- Large colourful items should be placed at the front of your property
- Have an outlet available if customers want to try any appliance
- Clothing is best sold if hung neatly on a rack (a broom stick between two ladders works) and clearly priced

Garage Sale Tips – Sale Day

- Use balloons at the front of your lot to draw customers to your sale
- Park your vehicles off street if possible for visibility and parking
- Count your float prior to the sale so you can keep track of your earnings!
- Have help – at least two people available to run you sale allows you to have bathroom breaks and better customer service

Garage Sale Tips – Pricing

- Have all pricing completed a week in advance, and set up tables the day before, ready to move them out to their visible location
- If you have odds-and-ends items, such as mismatched glasses, price them at 6 for $1.00 instead of $0.15
- Be prepared to barter with your customer, and as the day goes on you may want to reduce prices on some items to clear them out
- If doing a multi-group sale, put a last name initial on the tags, remove tags as you sell the items and then go through all tags at the end of the day to determine who gets what profit

The City of Saskatoon is developing the first ever Culture Plan for Saskatoon. A Culture Plan had been identified as an important legacy of the 2006 Cultural Capitals designation. The Culture Plan is intended to identify municipal and community priorities for strengthening the arts and cultural sector and elevating its role in sustainable city building.

The Plan is being developed collaboratively by City of Saskatoon staff, under the direction of the Community Development Branch, community arts and cultural stakeholders and Saskatoon residents. The City has hired the Office for Urbanism, based out of Toronto, to facilitate the process.

The process began in November of 2009 with a series of interviews with key arts, culture, heritage, business and tourism stakeholders. On March 4 and 5, an event was held for over 100 arts and cultural stakeholders at TCU Place. The event was designed to introduce the project to stakeholders and to provide an opportunity to collaborate. Stakeholders took the reins by generating big ideas about the vision, principles, and key policy directions for the Culture Plan.

From here, the Project Team will work on organizing the ideas into a draft framework for the Culture Plan. A major public consultation event is scheduled to be held in the Fall of 2010, at which time the outcomes of the detailed planning work along with a draft Culture Plan will be presented for feedback from residents of Saskatoon at a public open-house. Saskatoon's community associations will be invited to this event as your input is important. In the meantime, we invite you to visit the project website to read about the process and what has been discussed to date.
